

The Department of Resources (DoR) receives requests for due diligence relating to “bovine brucellosis and bovine tuberculosis (BTEC), Tuberculosis Freedom Assurance Program (TFAP) and historical records of issues/problems relating to stock diseases on properties, and if so, what action, if any, was taken to eradicate/solve such issue/problems.”

With respect to livestock the Chief Veterinary Officer (CVO) advises:

1. Australia including the Northern Territory was declared free of bovine brucellosis in 1987.
2. Australia, including the Northern Territory, was declared free of bovine tuberculosis in 1997 with all surveillance completed in 2007.
3. Departmental officers are able to provide information on orders or notices issued or proposed to be issued under the Livestock Act.
4. Departmental officers are able to provide information on reports of notifiable disease reports of livestock under the Livestock Act.
5. Departmental officers are unable to provide other information except under a subpoena or freedom of information (FOI) request.

Your due diligence request should be directed to the appropriate Region:
