

Cases certified fit for appeal by trial judge under section 410(b) of the Criminal Code

Certificates were granted in the following matters.

R v Yunupingu (x3) 30 April 2004 – Mildren J

Each appellant was found guilty by a Darwin Supreme Court jury of attempting to have sexual intercourse with another person without consent (attempted rape). The trial judge certified that there was a fit case for appeal against the findings of guilt against each of the accused on the ground that each of the verdicts was unreasonable or could not be supported having regard to the evidence.

The appeals had not been listed for hearing as at 30 June 2004.
