Licensing of Real Estate, Business and Conveyancing Agents

Licence Requirements

A person, company or firm intending to carry on a business as a real estate, business or conveyancing agent must hold a licence in the Northern Territory.

Penalties

Operating without a licence may incur a maximum fine of 2500 penalty units. The Penalty Units Act prescribes the monetary value of a penalty unit, its indexation and change of value by regulation. As at 1 July 2009, a penalty unit means $130.

Applying For a Licence

A person, company or firm, who intends to lodge an application, must first publish a notice in the Northern Territory News in a prescribed format, which notifies of the intention.

The notice serves to inform the public of the impending application and provides a person the opportunity to lodge an objection against the grant of the application, within 14 days of the date of publication.

An application for a licence must be made in the approved form and be lodged with the Registrar, with the prescribed fee*, at the Territory Business Centre, not later than 14 days after publication of the notice.

Please refer to the relevant schedule of fees.*
