

MEDIA RELEASE

Longtimers Share Stories Near Wesleyan Church

Some well known Territorians will share their stories near the Wesleyan Church at the George Brown Darwin Botanic Gardens as part of a Longtimers Afternoon Tea on Sunday.

Among the well known Territorians is His Honour Mr Ted Egan AO, Administrator of the Northern Territory who said he is looking forward to the Sunday Afternoon event to be held from 2pm to 4pm.

“This initiative is a positive one where members of the community, including myself, are able to enjoy each other’s company and a leisurely yarn in the beautiful surrounds of the George Brown Darwin Botanic Gardens,” His Honour said.

Department of Natural Resources, Environment and the Arts biological parks community alignment manager Jodie Clarkson said there would be about 20 longtime Darwin families involved in the Afternoon Tea.

“His Honour the Administrator will start the afternoon off with one of his own stories and hopefully that will spark a few hours of storytelling,” Ms Clarkson said.

“This initiative is one of several we have planned that aims towards involving the community more with the George Brown Darwin Botanic Gardens.

“We thank the Administrator for supporting this event, as well as the other longtimers who will be attending, and look forward to turning this into an annual event.”

Ends

Media Note – For more information contact Jodie Clarkson on 0419 827 804

Issued: 2pm Friday, 25 August 2006