Hit Comedy Brings Ups and Downs of Dating to the Centre

Alice Springs locals are invited to laugh along to the brutally honest Australian comedy Often I Find That I Am Naked at Araluen Arts Centre at 8pm on Wednesday, 3 August 2011.

Araluen Arts Centre Director Tim Rollason said the smash-hit cabaret provides a bold and comical look at the ups and downs of dating in the 21st century.

“Often I Find That I Am Naked has had sell-out seasons and rave reviews throughout Australia and we are very excited to feature this madcap cabaret at Araluen Arts Centre,” said Mr Rollason.

“Featuring a clever script that is delivered perfectly by a stellar cast, this one-night performance is guaranteed to be a hit with the people of Alice Springs – whether they are single or not.”

Currently on a national tour, Often I Find That I Am Naked follows the life of Jezebel, played by established producer and lead actor Jo Thomas.

Jezebel is a single, professional Australian woman who spends her time shopping, drinking cocktails and looking for love any way she can, but often finds herself ending up with Mr. Right Now rather than Mr. Right.

The saucy cabaret is by critically acclaimed playwright Fiona Sprott, whose work has been produced across Australia and the United Kingdom, as well as in New York.

Directed by Shane Anthony, the play also features actor Sam Clark and live music by James Dobinson.

As this production contains adult themes, strong coarse language and partial nudity, Arts Centre patrons are advised that it is suitable for audiences over 18 years of age.

For tickets, contact the Araluen Arts Centre Box Office on 8951 1122. Ticket prices are $35 for adults, $30 for concession and $30 for Friends of the Araluen Arts Centre.
