

Spouse Contribution Form

Who should use this form?

You should complete this form if you want to make a contribution to your spouse's accumulation account.

A spouse who wants to make a personal contribution to their own account should use the Personal Contribution Form for Accumulation Accounts.

What is a spouse contribution?

Spouse contributions are a non-concessional contribution made from after-tax income (salary sacrifice and employer contributions are not permitted).

Spouse contributions are added to the receiving spouse's accumulation account and are not taxed on entry or exit from superannuation.

If you are making the contribution, you are the contributing spouse, and if the contribution is being made on your behalf, you are the receiving spouse.

Eligibility to receive a spouse contribution

A receiving spouse under the age of 65 does not need to be employed to receive a spouse contribution. If aged 65 but under 70, the receiving spouse must satisfy the work test, that is, have worked at least 40 hours in a continuous 30 day period in the financial year the contribution is made. A receiving spouse aged 70 or over cannot receive a spouse contribution.

There are no age restrictions on the spouse making the contribution.

Non-Concessional Contribution Cap

Spouse contributions count towards the receiving spouse's non-concessional contribution cap of $150 000 each financial year.

For further information on the cap refer to the Australian Government-Better Super Changes Fact Sheet available on our web site.

Tax file number (TFN)

A superannuation fund cannot accept a spouse contribution without a valid TFN for the receiving spouse. If the NT Superannuation Office already has this TFN recorded you do not need to provide it again.

Member Investment Choice

Your contribution will be invested as per previous instructions relating to future contributions.

A Member Investment Choice Switch Form should be completed if your spouse would like to change the investment option for the current balance or future contributions.

For further information on investment options refer to the Member Investment Choice Fact Sheet on our web site.

Making a spouse contribution

Option 1: Regular payroll deduction

You can make a regular contribution to your spouse's account from your pay each fortnight. This is only available to current NT public sector employees. You can also suspend or vary your spouse contributions using this form. Contributions will be commenced or varied in the next available pay period.

Option 2: Lump sum payment

You can make payments by the following methods:

- Cash payments can be made over the counter at the NT Superannuation Office (maximum $1000).
- Cheque or Money Order made payable to NTGPASS, sent to the NT Superannuation Office postal address or delivered in person. The cheque account must be in your name or, if it is a joint account, you must be one of the joint holders. Bank cheques are acceptable.
- Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT) please refer to EFT payment details below.

Option 3: Regular EFT payments

You can make regular payments from your account with a financial institution to your spouse's NTGPASS account. Please refer to EFT payment details below.

EFT payment details

For EFT payments you must use the receiving spouse's member number as a reference for the transfer. Failure to do so may result in a delay in contributions being credited to the receiving spouse's account. Bank details are:

BSB: 035-301

Account number: 990220

Account name: NTGPASS

Reference details: Receiving spouse member number
